FILMING & PHOTOGRAPHY LOCATIONS

1873-Forever

As the home of the BBC's first regular television broadcasts, Alexandra Palace has been helping stories reach audiences for generations. Today, it remains one of London's most distinctive filming destinations, offering an unrivalled variety of locations across one historic estate.

From ornate Victorian interiors and vast event spaces to an ice rink, theatre, and 196 acres of parkland overlooking the city skyline, Alexandra Palace provides an exceptional backdrop for film, television, photography and commercial productions.

Whether you're searching for scale, character, versatility or breathtaking views, you'll find it here. Explore the locations, facilities and production support available across the Palace and discover why generations of storytellers have chosen Alexandra Palace as their stage.
